

Beyond the Picket Line:
Academic Organizing after the Long NYU Strike

Introduction to the Special Issue by Michael Palm	1-8
The Future of Academia is On the Line: Protest, Pedagogy, Picketing, Performativity by Emily Wilbourne	9-30
The Professionalizing of Graduate “Students” by Michael Gallope	31-39
Making It Work: Audre Lorde’s “The Master’s Tools” and the Unbearable Difference of GSOC by Elizabeth Loeb	40-58
The NYU Strike as Case Study by David Schleifer	59-66
Armbands, Arguments, Op-Eds, and Banner-Drops: Undergraduate Participation in a Graduate Employee Strike by Andrew Cornell	67-90
Another University is Possible: Academic Labor, the Ideology of Scarcity, and the Fight for Workplace Democracy by Ashley Dawson	91-105

workPLACE

A JOURNAL FOR ACADEMIC LABOR

14
May 2007

Book Reviews Edited by William Vaughn

- Tenured Bosses and Disposable Teachers: Writing Instruction in the Managed University* 106-110
Reviewed by Daniel Schierenbeck
- Ivy and Industry: Business and the Making of the American University, 1880-1980* 111-114
Reviewed by Floyd Olive
- Moral Leadership: Ethics and the College Presidency* 115-117
Reviewed by Brian Brost
- Engaging Paulo Freire's Pedagogy of Possibility: From Blind to Transformative Optimism* 118-119
Reviewed by Karen A. Bradley
- University, Inc.: The Corporate Corruption of American Higher Education* 120-122
Reviewed by William Vaughn
- The Two-Body Problem: Dual-Career-Couple Hiring Policies in Higher Education* 123-125
Reviewed by Vivian Wagner